What do we offer for undergraduate students?

For sophomores and juniors, our summer analyst programs offer a comprehensive summer experience: challenging assignments, initial training, mentoring, senior management presentations, and opportunities to network with other analysts. In addition, the summer programs are the pipeline for our full-time analyst positions. We make offers by March, and the programs begin in June.

For seniors, our analyst training programs offer world-class preparation prior to placement on the job. We extend offers to seniors by January prior to spring graduation. In addition, the job search section of the company's web site, www.ml.com, has current openings for other entry-level positions.
